Special Features

LabChat	In this special "podcast" feature, Laboratory Equipment Editor-in-Chief Michelle Taylor interviews a high-profile scientist regarding his/her recent research, which may have far-reaching implications in high-interest specialties of lab research. This feature appears bimonthly beginning in January.
Women in Science	Although science has made significant strides, women and minorities are still behind in terms of employment. This bi-monthly profile, beginning in February, celebrates the Women in Science who are contributing to lab research every day in a meaningful and impactful way.
